MORGAN COUNTY PMA COMMITTEE RE-ELECTED HERE

Dillard Murphy Is Renamed County
Chairman of PMA

Dillard Murphy of Ezel was re-elected chairman of the Morgan County Production and Marketing Administration Committee at the county convention of newly elected community delegates here last Friday.

All other members of the county committee were re-elected at Friday's meeting. They are: Edgar Holbrook of Blair's Mills, vice-chairman, and H. L. Day of Lenox, regular member.

The county committee met on Monday and employed Miss Gladys Nickell as county office manager, a position similar to PMA clerk, the office she previously held.

Community elections were held Thursday of last week, and community committees and delegates were elected as follows—

West Liberty—Ben Cox, PMA chairman; Victor McKenzie of Licking River, vice chairman; George Johnston of West Liberty, committeeman, and Ben Cox delegate.

Dingus—Ralph Hamilton, Dingus chairman and delegate; H. G. Young, vice-chairman, and Joe Jenkins of Ophir, committeeman.

Ezel—J. H. Davis of Ezel, chairman; Arnold H. Henry of Ezel, vice-chairman, and Byron R. Lewis of Murphy Fork, committeemen; and B. H. Murphy of Ezel, delegate.

Grassy Creek—Ova Patrick of Daysboro, chairman and delegate; D. O. Carpenter of Woodbend, vice-chairman, and R. D. Davidson of Hazel Green, committeeman.

Cannel City—Carl Whitaker of Malone, chairman and delegate; E. L. Perkins of Cannel City, vice-chairman, and C. C. Stacy of Payton, committeeman.

Blair's Mills—Claude Whit of Wrigley, chairman and delegate; J. H. Blair of Blair's Mills, vice-chairman; Ledford Dehaven of Dehart, committeemen, and Joe D. Stacy, delegate.

County PMA committees have charge of carrying out the tobacco acreage allotment program and the Agricultural Conservation program which reimburses farmers for certain approved conservation practices.

Under the reorganization of the U. S. Department of Agriculture the work of the PMA county committees will be revised. Hereafter most of the work has been done by the farmers themselves, either as volunteers or as farmers committees. This has had its advantages in that it has brought into the work many farmers.

With efficiency as its aim, the new plan calls for the election of an officer manager who will have the chief duties and responsibilities of directing the work of the PMA under the direction of the county committee.

TV TACTICS

Olive and Graham Burton beat the heat these evenings by sitting in their yard to enjoy television. To manage this all they had to do was turn their television set facing out the window. So when the heat of the weather combined with the heat of the fights Wednesday evening, the Burtons were as cool as the proverbial cucumbers. Another couple was overheard to say they sat on a low wall outside a house and watched a television program in pure comfort, while the owners sat inside watching the same program and fanning furiously. What is still not as good as the story told by some friends who do not have television. However, they do own a radio; so when the recent famous championship fight was on TV and radio simultaneously, the couple moved their bed so they could see the TV set in their neighbors' living room, then turned in the fight on the radio to pick up the sound. This seemed like a good thing, except the fight did not last long enough.

EXPECT 1,000 TO ENROLL IN SCHOOL

A total of 964 pupils had enrolled in the Morgan County high school and West Liberty graded school here by Wednesday, and W. O. Pelfrey, principal, said he expected that late registrants would bring the enrollment to more than 1000 by next week. This compares with a total of 815 enrolled last year. The school opened Monday for the 1953-54 term.

A total of 312 are enrolled in the high school and 652 in the grades, as follows—1st grade 83, 2nd 81, 3rd 68, 4th 72, 5th 85, 6th 97, 7th 75, 8th 81; freshmen 110, sophomores 83, juniors 56, seniors 63.

MORGAN MAY BE PUT IN DROUTH DISASTER AREA

Perkins To Get
Data On Damage
To Farming Here

Morgan County Farm Agent Charlie Dixon and other Morgan farm agency heads are making a survey of drouth damages in Morgan, Elliott and Wolfe counties at the request of Congressman Carl D. Perkins of the 7th district, who said Thursday he proposed to recommend the area be designated as a disaster area if damage to farmers from the drouth warrants it.

The message from Perkins' office in Washington was received Thursday. Agricultural agency heads in Elliott and Wolfe have been asked by Mr. Dixon to make surveys in their counties, after which he will forward the findings to Mr. Perkins.

Though not hit so hard as western Kentucky, Morgan crops and pastures have been badly damaged by the drouth in recent days, and many farmers are hauling water for their livestock. Large stock ponds have proved adequate so far but small ponds have dried up along with nearly all branches of creeks.

Scattered showers the first half of August gave a total rainfall of 2 inches here, the last rain being 45 hundredths of an inch on the 18th. Total July rainfall was only 2.7 inches with only one rain on the 4th as much as one-half inch. But the intense heat in recent days has dried up many water supplies. The temperature reached 103° here Monday and has hit 101 the past three days, John Turner, local weather observer, reports.

Mr. Dixon Thursday estimated Morgan's tobacco crop would be approximately 70 to 75 percent of normal this season. Early tobacco reached a mature growth before the drouth set in but late tobacco is very small and some of it not worth cutting. However, (Continued on Page Four)

County 13-0. Coach Stanley has only 11 veterans back from his last year's squad.

In addition, the Morgan Countians have experienced delay in practice because of the rush to tobacco cutting season here. All last week the most players Stanley had out for practice was 10, and some days it was down to six and seven. However, a total of 31 boys have reported for the squad.

Because of the intense heat and the tobacco cutting season, scrimmage practices were conducted at night this week. The Blue Devil squad is in good physical condition for the opener except for Sammy Hill, right half, who has a slightly injured leg.

Coach Stanley has announced his starting lineup as follows—Backfield—Richie Stacy, 150, quarter; Glenn Lykins, 160, left half; Sammy Hill, 145, right half; and Dale Dehart, 150, fullback.

Davis Withdraws His Contest Suit

BALLOT RECOUNT FOUND NO ERROR IN TABULATIONS

J. Everett Bach
Is Adjudged Dem
Nominee for Seat

JACKSON, Ky., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Courier)—Charles Davis, Jackson mayor and defeated candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Senator in the 34th district, withdrew his contest suit today against his successful opponent, J. Everett Bach, also of Jackson.

Davis' motion withdrawing the suit was made by his attorney Jesse K. Lewis of Lexington, in Breathitt circuit court this morning. As Special Judge Coleman Wright of Shelbyville prepared to hear evidence in the case after he and attorneys for Davis and Bach had completed recounting the ballots cast August 1 in the district's four counties—Breathitt, Morgan, Lee and Magoffin.

Special Judge Wright and the attorneys went from county seat to county seat last week making the recount.

Though there were minor changes in the tabulations of three of the counties, Bach's majority in the district remained exactly as the original count was certified—286 votes.

The recount showed the Magoffin tabulation unchanged. Bach gained six votes in Morgan and one in Lee while Davis gained seven votes in Breathitt.

The recount was completed at West Liberty Thursday of last week.

At the conclusion of the recount, Judge Wright entered an order in Breathitt circuit court adjudging Bach the Democratic nominee, and set today to commence hearing evidence in Davis' contest suit charging fraud, vote-buying, coercion, etc.

Davis' withdrawal of the suit affirms Bach's nomination as certified by the election commissions in the four counties.

Bach, former State Representative, had the backing of the administration of Governor Wetherby for the Senate seat.

New Livestock Loans Available to Local Livestock Producers

Special livestock loans, authorized by recent legislation, are now available to eligible farmers in this locality. It was announced by William P. Caskey, supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration for Morgan and Magoffin counties.

Purpose of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's new loans is to provide temporary credit to livestock producers to continue their operations, after suffering economic difficulties. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has given top responsibility for the new program to R. B. McLeish, national administrator of the Farmers Home Administration. FHA state and county officers will disburse the funds, collect the loans and service the accounts.

Established producers of cattle, sheep, and goats may borrow if they cannot get the credit they need from customary sources, if they have good records of operations, and if the credit will give them a reasonable chance to succeed. This aid is only for established producers of livestock, and is not for getting a start in or expanding livestock business, or operating commercial feed lot. Loans may be used to buy or produce feed, pay for grazing permits, rent farm buildings, pasture, and feed crop land; replace, hire, or repair farm machinery or equipment, build and repair fences, move livestock to and from grazing places; repair or improve livestock and domestic water supplies; and pay essential living expenses and costs of maintaining farm buildings. Loans bear 5 percent interest and are repayable over periods up to three years.

All loans must be approved by a special livestock loan committee appointed by the Secretary. To serve as temporary State special livestock loan committee for Kentucky, Secretary Benson has named the following: Earl Mayhew, State Director, Farmers Home Administration; Frank J. Welch, State Director of Extension; and Clarence L. Miller, State PMA Committee. Inquiries may be made, or application filed, at the Farmers Home Administration office located in the Earl May Building in West Liberty.

The Heleehawa substation of the Kentucky and West Virginia Power Company, Incorporated, showing the 66,000-volt line entering and leaving this modern station.

Power Company Project Finished Near Heleehawa

The Kentucky and West Virginia Power Company, Inc., announce the completion of its new 66,000 volt transmission substation located at Heleehawa, Ky. This completes another step in the long range planning that has brought about additional capacity to meet the ever-increasing requirements for electric service to West Liberty, Morgan county, and the general throughout our neighboring counties and communities.

The Heleehawa Substation was constructed at a cost of over $61,000.00. This last step in this project physically tied together the transmission system of the Company's Ashland, Pikeville and Hazard districts. These connections made possible a two way feed into the area. The Index and Heleehawa stations can be served by the new 66,000 volt line from Morehead or both stations can be served from the Company's 33,000 volt transmission line from Hazard.

The entire project of substations and transmission lines totaling one-half million dollars covers a wide service area and includes the cities of West Liberty, Salyersville, Jackson, their surrounding communities, and the customers of the Licking Valley R.E.C.C. The capacity at the Heleehawa station from which the Licking Valley R.E.C.C. is served at present is 6,000 kva and will comfortably serve the electrical requirements of a modern city of 10,000 population. The entire transmission project is flexible enough to serve the requirements of a city over a quarter-million population when this capacity is required.

REGISTRATION SET SEPT. 15

Freshman registration at Morehead College will begin at 9 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 15 and upperclassmen will enroll on September 16, Dean Warren C. Lappin has announced. Classwork will begin on Thursday.

College officials expect the new $375,000 Fine Arts building to be ready for occupancy during the early part of the semester.

LARGER CHECK LEGAL FOR RETIRED TEACHERS

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 1—Larger monthly checks for retired men teachers under the State's teacher retirement system are legal, according to a ruling given by the Attorney General's office.

The ruling held that the payments are made on the basis of mortality tables now in use that show the men have a life expectancy of 13 1/4 years on retirement while the female expectancy is 16 1/4 years. This means that payment must be made at a higher rate to the men in order that they exhaust the contributions they and the State have made to the retirement system and the interest the funds have earned.

ARE OUR BALLOTS COUNTED CORRECTLY?

Attorneys for the two litigants and a special judge last week completed a recount of the 10,151 votes cast in the August 1 Democratic primary for State Senator in the four counties of the 34th district and found the tabulation of the election commissioners so accurate that there was no net change in the majority of the official winner, J. Everett Bach of Jackson.

While there was a net change of 7 votes in Breathitt in favor of Bach's opponent, Charles Davis, who filed the contest suit, there was a net change of 6 votes in Bach's favor in Morgan and 1 in Lee county. Magoffin's count was found to be the same. Thus, while the totals were changed a few votes in some counties, the majority for the winner remained the same.

In Morgan the attorneys found errors in only eight precincts, and only by one vote in each precinct. And this in a total of 4,073 votes cast in the race. Multiply the 4,073 ballots cast, by the ten races tabulated in Morgan, and it is found the tabulators counted more than 40,000 votes.

Human frailties in the rush and stress of calling and counting votes late at night might well account for greater error than Special Judge Coleman Wright of Shelbyville and attorneys for Mr. Davis and Mr. Bach found at the four county seats.

All of which is to say that, contrary to the irresponsible talk of some people that "elections are stolen," election officials of the four counties are to be congratulated for their fairness and accuracy in recording the ballots as they were cast by the electorate.

All election officials, the county commissioners, callers, tabulators and watchers, who made the original tabulation, deserve our commendation.

This recounting of the ballots by a special judge and attorneys representing both candidates should set at rest much of the irresponsible talk of "election steals" in mountain counties.

OVERCOMING OBSTACLES IN LIFE

Now let me explain this—it is not just feeling, "Well, I am jealous or I hate somebody or I am an alcoholic." It is not the surface feeling and admission. It comes from a point of an honest knowledge of it, with a feeling that you are lost if you keep it there. You know that it is there and you are not ashamed to say to yourself, "I have these feelings and they are eating me up and I know it and I must do something about it." Now that is a confession to self that it is true, and unless you can come to that you will never begin to unravel that that is growing in a cancerous condition in the soul, just like conditions grow in the human flesh that finally perhaps destroy it. Now if you could do that that would be the beginning of unraveling and perhaps removing that. I do not mind to say to you in the least the same thing that Jesus said, "Except ye repent, ye shall all in like manner perish." He was meaning exactly this, unless you come to yourself and confess that these faults are yours, that you know that they are and that they are doing something to you you

SOIL CONSERVATION IS BEARING FRUIT

The soil conservation program and the other farm programs of the United States Department of Agriculture appear to be bearing fruit in the following manner to every one who observes the changes in cultivation of our soil in the last 25 years. The period that many years ago was a period of exploitation of the natural resources of the soil in the way of timber, growing corn and crops on the hills and slopes. Owners for the first time had a market for their timber in the way of lumber instead of running it down the river in the form of rafts. When the large oaks, poplars and pines were cut and logged, the owner then proceeded to clear the land, to deaden the remaining larger trees and cultivate the land in corn for four or five years and the land would produce an abundance of corn, oats, and other crops. Most of the good land was thus cleared and washed away.

During the last few years under the farm programs part of this land has been put in grass and most of the remainder of the hills have been allowed to grow up in bushes. The small bottoms and the level land has been drained and fertilizer and lime used and more intensive farming methods have given the farmer more crops with less labor.

The results have had the following effects: first, prevented the soil from washing away; second, the beginning of the growth of timber that one day will provide lumber; third, the leaves, grass, bushes and timber tend to hold the rain water and thus prevent overflows of the valleys; fourth, the growth of trees and forests will provide a refuge for wild life which will appear again and in the small branches and creeks water will be retained and provide an abundance for fish and other life.

A survey by some competent governmental authority to calculate the rainfall and runoff into streams this year would show that the situation will prevent overflows of Licking to help prevent floods.

Soil conservation is paying off now and is helping stake a future that holds promise for farmers.

will do with the crowd that does not understand these predicaments and consequently you will fall in line with their same kind of defeat and death. Let us notice one further step. I think that it would be the finest thing in the world, and without it I doubt that you will ever relieve yourself, that you would confess it to your God—your own weakness, your own sin, your own undone condition. I have worked with alcoholics for 25 years and with those who are making themselves alcoholics. I have heard them say, "Well, I can do this, I can overcome, I will do it," and I know as well as I know that I am breathing they will not do it as long as they feel that way about it; just as long as they have any loophole they will never come to themselves. The AA is an organization that has recognized this and will not do anything in helping anybody until they come to themselves and admit it to themselves that they are defeated and undone unless something outside of themselves will help them to do it. They can do it when that happens but only when that happens can they begin to unravel this awful hold upon them by this terrible drug.

The third thing that is always fine is to confess it to somebody in whom you have confidence. We all need that. One of the finest things in the world for any of us when we are under tension, when we are in distress, is to be able to talk it over with somebody as a friend. If we do then we are all right, it relieves us. Sometimes as a counselor I have sat for an hour and just listened to somebody unravel and unfold and pour out the condition of their own soul and when they did it they had great relief and sometimes it has been the turning point in the life of someone. I am saying first of all that if you have any of these things inside you, disturbing you, if you don't find it out for yourself it is not necessary for anyone to tell you unless you can believe it. And when you do believe it to the point that you are willing frankly to admit it, admit it to Almighty God above everything else and when you do that, humbly understanding that you are in need and that you are calling on the resources of heaven for help I can assure you by the promises of God and through the ages of experience that all of His resources are at your disposal and He promises never to leave nor forsake you.

Adams-Williams Reunion Held At Malone Home

much of Morgan's burley crop was set out early this year.

Mr. Dixon Lovet took drouth damage in the Zag, Blaze, and Blairs Mills section on Thursday morning. He said the burley crop would be 75 percent of normal in the Zag and Blaze communities and 90 percent in Blairs Mills. Pastures, Mr. Dixon said, are badly burned everywhere. Ed Holbrook of Blairs Mills told him about a dozen of his neighbors were hauling water for livestock, some as far away as Christy Creek in Rowan county.

There will be a marked shortage of hay and farmers will have to start feeding early.

The corn crop is estimated at 50 percent of normal, and many gardens are ruined.

About 50 and 75 percent of the burley crop already has been cut and housed in Morgan. Burley ripened quickly in a two weeks period but farmers have solved the cutting and housing problem by trading work in nearly all communities, Mr. Dixon said.

TOAST TO MORGAN PEOPLE

Carter Steele, native of Malone who is a member of the staff of Male high school in Louisville, made this comment about his home people in his address of response at the school homecoming banquet here Saturday night: "I don't think there are any finer people on the face of the earth than the people who were rooted here in Morgan county—and I feel it deeply and sincerely. Although I found it necessary to spend my life elsewhere, I can assure you my heart has been with you always. You who have had the will and the hardihood to stay rooted here I admire and I doff my hat to you. You have done a good, a very good job."

SHEEP PAID EVERY YEAR

Col. Henry Clay Cox, here from Huntington for the school homecoming Saturday, told us his flock of western ewes on his farm near Lenox had made money for him every year. Col. Cox said he followed the plans suggested by Richard C. Miller, sheep specialist of the Kentucky Experiment Station, for the five years he ran sheep on his farm, and found the program worked good in Morgan county. Miller, he said, is the foremost sheep specialist in America. It was Miller who came to Morgan to help get the sheep program here, and expressed a desire to return and help growers with problems should any arise. He also said he would conduct regular demonstrations in Morgan on shearing, drenching, etc. If Morgan farmers wanted him, Morgan, Miller said, is the best area he knows of for sheep farming.

EXPRESSES APPRECIATION FOR REV. POPE'S WORK

The Courier—

Rev. Wm. Pope, who was transferred from West Liberty Methodist church to the Central Methodist church in Maysville by the Kentucky Conference, had spent four years here and not only endeared himself to the hearts of the West Liberty people but to those throughout the county. His activities were not confined to his own church but his cooperation with the churches in the county was very prominent.

Two years ago he organized the rural Sunday school which met in the Mordical school house. This Sunday school made rapid progress and through the past year maintained an average attendance of 41. The Mission Sunday school was organized last winter and while the attendance has been small, the interest has been great.

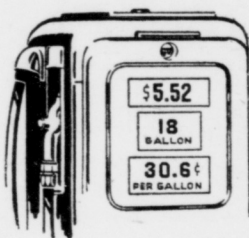

Each Sunday afternoon Rev. Pope with a group from his church conducted religious service for the prisoners in the jail and these boys often expressed that they looked forward to these services.

Rev. Pope was also active in Cub Scout and 4-H Club work. Morgan county should be a better place to live because of his having lived and labored here.

Mrs. Henry Lowell Allen Is Honored at Wedding Shower At Stacy Home

Highlight for the members of the Margaret Stacy Guild Tuesday evening at their meeting at the home of the group's founder, Mrs. C. K. Stacy, was a birthday party for little Miss Darlene Whitt of Redwine. Darlene, who is seven years old, will leave within a few days to attend the school for the deaf at Danville, and her gifts included lovely dresses, underclothing, socks, and other useful articles.

Members of the Guild voted at a previous meeting to sponsor Darlene this year and through their gifts help make her life more pleasant.

The program was under the direction of Mrs. Neil Hunley. Mrs. Alec Spencer presented the devotional and read hymns and portions of Scripture, after which the group sang two hymns.

The program consisted of a dramatization of an imaginary incident in the life of Jesus. Taking part were Mrs. Robert Stacy, Mrs. Jerald Amyx, Mrs. Woodrow Stamper and Mrs. LaRue Peyton. They then gave readings relative to an abundant life for rural people.

Rev. Robert Meyers closed the program with prayer.

Presiding during the business session was Mrs. Neil Hunley, who has assumed the presidency of the Guild due to the moving to Virginia of Mrs. Fletcher L. Elmore. Mrs. Major Gardner was appointed to represent the Guild at the meetings of the Copmision on Education, and Mrs. Herbert Trayner and Mrs. James Perry were appointed to a parsonage committee. Church work and repairing of the parsonage were discussed, and Rev. Meyers spoke briefly of some things the group might help with.

Assisting Mrs. Stacy in entertaining were her daughter, Mrs. Peyton, and Mrs. Hunley.

Those present were Rev. and Mrs. Robert L. Meyers, Darlene Whitt, Mrs. Viola Whitt and daughter Bonnie, Jane Walter, Irene Vest, Anna Jean Allen, Charles Spencer, Dorothy Perry, Reva Henry, Florence Murray, Georgia Stamper, Rosaline Emrick, Melvyn Gardner, Mabel Amyx, Leona Rose, Gene Haney, Dorothy Trayner, Myrtle Stafford, Helen Price, Stacy, Mrs. C. I was in San Francisco the last time readers of this column heard from me. I suppose I'd better take up where I left off. It was Friday, July 24 that we rubbed the fog from our eyes and left the roller coaster streets of the not so golden city of the Golden Gate. As soon as we were out of the city the fog disappeared as if by magic. The sun was warm and bright, and it was summer again.

We reached Yosemite National Park around noon and drove through the lovely Yosemite Valley. We took pictures of the Falls which have a drop of 2425 feet; Half Dome, a granite formation which is 8850 feet high, and El Capitan, a natural granite monument of Nature's handwork which rises perpendicularly 3000 feet.

After leaving the valley we went to the Mariposa grove of big trees and drove through the Wawona Tunnel Tree which is one of the hundreds of giant sequoias growing here, some of which are 4000 years old and 200 feet high with circumferences of ninety feet. After photographing some of the trees and wild animals, we headed toward Fresno.

We reached Fresno before dark and decided to spend the night there. Fresno which is in the center of the rich, irrigated San Joaquin Valley is the home of the world's largest winery. In addition to grapes, this valley also produces large amounts of olives, figs, cotton and peaches. Last but not least, Fresno also produced that self-styled, eccentric novelist, short story writer, playwright and author of "Come On My 'Ouse," William Saroyan.

The next day, Saturday, we drove to Los Angeles, the city which contains many cities. We reached our destination long before we expected to, then I called Madeline Fouchaux. I had written to Madeline for a number of years, but we had never seen each other. Nevertheless, even before we had begun this tour, she had invited us to stay as long as we wished at her home in Los Angeles. She also said that the home of her daughter would be open to us if we preferred to stay in Inglewood.

Madeline's home was a huge ranch type building with a lawn like a thick green carpet flowered with palms and century plants. We were ushered into the home of an artist and a poet. The walls were covered with Madeline's own excellent paintings, and many artistic ceramic creations added further beauty and interest to the place.

On Sunday the 26th Madeline was our guide through the famous Huntington Library where we saw many interesting and educational things including such original paintings as the Blue Boy and Pinky. Madeline's comments and criticisms of the various paintings constituted a miniature course in art. On the way to the library we saw the famous Santa Anita Race Track and drove through many of the suburbs of the city.

On Monday Anita and I crashed the fabulous Hollywood alone. We collected tickets for radio shows at the various studios. We saw "Shane" (scripted by A. B. Guthrie, Jr.) at Grauman's Chinese Theatre. We tried in vain to get into one of the movie studios and we had dinner not at the Brown Derby, but at a more inexpensive place across the street from it. After dinner we saw "My Little Margie" at CBS studios. Immediately afterward we went to see "Here's Hawthorne" which is what I call a poor man's quiz. I was able to get on the show, but all I won was a ball point fountain pen.

On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston, Madeline's daughter and son-in-law, came and took us to Long Beach. From there we went to Knotts Berry Farm and the interesting ghost town completely restored. We spent Tuesday night, Wednesday and Wednesday night with the Johnstons, then we went back to Madeline on Thursday. She accompanied us to Forest Lawn Memorial Cemetery where we saw the magnificent stained glass window reproduction of The Last Supper and the gigantic Jan Styka painting of The Crucifixion. Thursday night Madeline went with us to Hollywood where we took a tour of the Movie Stars' homes and were a musical program of Verdi at the Hollywood Bowl.

On Friday, our last day in Los Angeles, I talked with Madeline about poets, poetry, poetry magazines and editors. She knows many of the great and near great in the field of poetry and art and has entertained many of them in her home. She is very well acquainted with Cotton Noe, Kentucky's Poet Laureate who lives in Beverly Hills. Before we left Madeline gave me an autographed copy of her book of poems, "Potpourri" and her textbook for poets, "First Aid For Limping Verse," which I intend to tell you more about in future M.M. columns. At present Madeline is completing a historical volume of poetry on the famous California outlaw, Joaquin Murietta.

It was late Friday afternoon when we left Los Angeles. We drove across a very hot stretch of desert to the town of Needles and where we spent the night. Saturday we entered Arizona and went to the Grand Canyon where we took many pictures of the canyon and of the Hopi Indian dance which is performed on the rim of the canyon. We drove along the rim of the canyon for miles and on to Flagstaff where we spent the night.

Sunday we drove to Petrified Forest where we took many pictures and then on into New Mexico, the Land of Enchantment. We spent the night at a motel in Los Cruces, N. Mex. Monday morning we arose early, determined to reach Laredo, Texas before stopping for the night. It was the longest drive for a single day we had made, but we kept on driving and after more than six hundred miles we reached Laredo which, like El Paso, is a border town and a port of entry into Mexico. We reached Laredo about 10:30, looked up Anita's Grandmother and spent the night with her.

From Monday night, Aug. 3rd to Saturday morning, Aug. 8 we stayed in hot, clammy, sultry 110 degree Laredo and 120 degree Nuevo Laredo in Mexico across the Rio Grande. If the houses we stayed in had not been air conditioned, we probably wouldn't have stayed this long. Since the rate of exchange is eight pesos and fifty centavos to one American dollar, we bought our gifts and souvenirs on the Mexican side.

Long before we left Laredo we were homesick for Kentucky, and when we left there Saturday, August 8 we couldn't get home fast enough. We drove as far as Henderson where we spent the night. Sunday we entered a greener part of Texas then came Arkansas where we saw many swamps and vast fields of rice. We entered Tennessee and spent the night near Memphis. Monday, August 10 we entered Kentucky. Of all the things we saw on our trip, nothing looked more beautiful or inviting than the green wooded hills of Kentucky and her fields of corn and tobacco. On that Monday night we were as happy to return to Lexington as we had been to leave it forty days before. We were tired, but happy and thankful that our trip was over and that we had had such good luck all the way.

On the trip we travelled 7,885 miles and burned 454 gallons of gasoline through sixteen states. MUSE NEWS Kathryn Amyx of Grassy Creek and Paul Gilley of Maytown each have a poem in the August issue of THE AMERICAN COURIER.

U.K. CIRCULAR TELLS HOW TO CURE BURLEY

The ventilation of the barn should be given first consideration in the curing of burley tobacco, says Jack N. Krueger in a new circular of the University of Kentucky called Heating Practices and Equipment for Curing Burley Tobacco.

A third to a half of the barn walls should be ventilator doors. This will give adequate ventilation for air-curing, provided tobacco is not crowded into the barn, it is stated.

However, if tobacco remains in high case for more than 24 hours, then heat should be used to bring the tobacco down to the correct dryness for proper curing. The primary purpose of firing is to control the humidity in the barn, but "firing in a properly filled burley tobacco barn during favorable curing weather is not necessary."

Fuels used in curing tobacco include coke, fuel oil, natural gas, and propane gas. Coke is considered inexpensive, but requires a good deal of labor. The stoves are started outside the barn and then moved in. They should be attended at least twice a day. Control of coke heat is difficult and heat output is not uniform.

Natural gas is considered good fuel for curing tobacco. Its cost is said to be less than that of any other satisfactory fuel. Propane or bottled gas has been successfully used in curing leaf. It costs about three times as much as natural gas.

See a county agent or write to UK College of Agriculture and Home Economics, Lexington, for circular 496.

GRASSY CREEK—SEEK CHASTAIN KIN GENEALOGY

GRASSY CREEK, Ky., Aug. 31

(By J. M. Gevedon)—Mrs. Nora Y. Ferguson of Bowling Green spent several days here gathering data concerning her Chastain ancestry, making her headquarters with Aunt Jeston and family. Together with the writer, she spent last Friday afternoon with some friends in West Liberty, toured the hill country Saturday by way of Jackson where she made several acquaintances, then on to Salversville, attending the funeral of William Holbrooks, and while there met with Mr. and Mrs. J. Everett Bach who accompanied her for a short visit in our home. It was quite an event with Mrs. Ferguson who lives in the lower country to drive over the hills and crooked trails but she seemed to enjoy every mile of the way. She left for her home Sunday morning, pleased with the information we were able to furnish in regard to her kindred.

Mrs. Dell Gevedon is on the sick list, and Aunt Jeston Gevedon is growing weaker as the days go by. Charles Buskirk and grandmother, both of Winchester, were on a short visit Sunday with her granddaughter, Mrs. Edward Adams and family. Roy Davis and Jim Vaughan of Ironton, Ohio, were here over the week end; Roy to visit with his sister, Mrs. Dell Gevedon, and Jim to squirrel hunt with his cousin, Bert Gevedon.

Mrs. Lula Gevedon returned Sunday from an extended visit with friends in Oklahoma City.

Keeps its value better than any other car!

Used car dealers report that Fords return more of their original cost than any other car—and there are 41 reasons why:

Take POWER

Ford's two high-compression engines are real leaders in their class. Ford's only car in the low-price field to offer you the smooth power of a V-8 engine. And no other car in any field has so modern a Six.

Take BUILD

Ford's Crestmark body gives you style-setting beauty with rugged "build" underneath. Where many cars are bolted Fords are welded hull-tight to keep out rust-causing weather and dirt.

Take VISIBILITY

Ford gives you the "all-around" view you need in today's fast-moving traffic. A curved one-piece windshield, car-wide rear window and large "picture windows" all around make sure you have Full-Circle visibility.

Take RIDE

Ford's wonderful, new ride reduces front end road shock up to 80%. And Ford's new spring and shock absorber action gives you the comfortable easy ride you want without gas-eating dirt weight.

farm facts

FOR KENTUCKY FOLKS

by Wm. C. Johnstone
AGRICULTURAL REPRESENTATIVE
KENTUCKY BANKERS ASSOCIATION

Better stands of grass and legumes can be obtained by drilling the seed directly over a band of fertilizer placed one inch under the seed. This method of seeding grasses, clover and alfalfa has shown superior results in tests made by the Ohio Experiment Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Band Seeding not only provides better stands than broadcast seedings, but the seedlings grow faster, compete better with weeds and survive the winter better.

"Band seeding" may be done with conventional grain drills equipped with fertilizer and small seed attachments. The fertilizer is drilled in, about 1 1/4 inches deep and covered. The seed is then dropped in bands over the furrow and covered with the drill chains and cultipacker. The only modifications for the equipment is the addition of short pieces of hose to carry the seed from the hopper to the furrow so it will not be scattered.

The failure to get good stands of meadows and pastures contributes greatly to the cost of farming in Kentucky so it is expected that many farmers will try "band seeding" this fall and next spring.

LOW PRICES of livestock may encourage more efficient production practices. Here are two of the most important practices that every Kentucky farmer should consider:

1. Cull now. It always pays to cull poor producers, whether dairy, beef, sheep, hogs or poultry, but now with lower prices and higher costs it's more important than ever to eliminate culls from the herds and flocks. Slow and late breeders, sires or dams that produce poor offspring, rogues, unhealthy and other undesirable animals should be sold for slaughter—even if at a loss—before winter. It's doubly important that breeders of purebreds initiate an intensive culling program. Too many cull purebreds have already been sold into neighbors herds as foundation animals.

2. Utilize Pastures Better. The maximum use of pastures for livestock feed reduces the cost of production. The development of "accumulated winter pastures," the fuller use of small grain cover crops, the use of sudan grass for drouth insurance, and the making of grass silage are all important factors in lowering the cost of livestock production.

Looking backwards. After the end of World War I, about 33 years ago, hog prices dropped from $20.00 to $7.00; wheat from $2.50 to 90¢; corn from $1.80 to 42¢ and other farm products in like proportion. These are some of the reasons why farmers last month overwhelmingly accepted the wheat control program.

Boiling Point. It made me boil a few days ago when I read and heard reports that the cost of living had gone up again due to higher prices of farm products. At the same time, I see that the farmers' share of the market basket dollar has dropped to 44¢.

Rev. Boyer To Preach Rededication Sermon

Dr. R. E. Boyer of Middletown, Ohio, superintendent of the Mt. Pleasant Home for Aged of the second Synod, will preach the sermon at the rededication services at the Ezel United Presbyterian church Sunday, Aug. 13. The rededication program will open at 9:45 a.m. The rededication is being conducted after extensive repairs to the interior of the church. All old members and friends are invited to attend the service.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

Boyd Steele of Columbus, Ohio, here for the school homecoming, hunted up a member of the swimming pool fund committee to give them a $5.00 donation for the project. "It is the best recreation project West Liberty can have," Mr. Steele said, "because it not only provides fun and sport but supervised play such as in a swimming pool might save some one from drowning and keep youngsters out of rivers and creeks."

KILLED BY DISEASE

Are you losing profitable crops of wheat, oats and barley from disease? Southern States is helping farmers prevent such losses of small grains by supplying seed that is chemically treated to help control disease. This treatment often means the difference between success and failure when your soil is disease-infected. If you have never used Southern States small grain seed, this is a good year to try it. NEW METHODIST PASTOR

REV. ROBERT L. MEYERS.

Rev. Robert L. Meyers moved to the Methodist parsonage here last week and held his first services Sunday. He says he finds the people of West Liberty very kind, friendly, and of a generous spirit. He is glad to be among you.

His native land is Claiborn County, Tennessee, near New Tazewell. His early school days were in that county and in Grant County, Ky., where as a boy he lived twice. Later he went to Lincoln Memorial University, at Harrogate, Tenn. for four years, and later to Polytechnic College, now Texas Wesleyan at Fort Worth, Texas one year.

He spent over seven years in the Fort Worth post office, then some time in a wholesale grocery office, then five years in the credit office of a department store in Fort Worth. He was the first secretary-treasurer and continued so for six years of the Associated Retail Credit Men of Texas.

While a local deacon he organized the College Heights Methodist Church in Fort Worth from the ground up and served as its pastor for the first eighteen months, then went to Tyler Street Methodist Church, Dallas, Texas, for two years. While there he joined the North Texas Conference in 1926. A year later he volunteered to go to the northwest, and in 1927 to 1938 was pastor at Helena, Montana, Bozeman, and Corvallis. He transferred to the Kentucky Conference in 1932. He has been pastor in Kentucky at Campbellburg, Shilo in Oldham county, Mayesville Central, Germantown, Benson and Curry in Harrison county, and Wayland. One exception to the above, in 1948-1949 he returned to Montana for a year.

Mrs. Meyers is a native of Bell county, Kentucky, near Pineville. They were married in North Fort Worth, Texas. Their son, Rev. E. K. Meyers, recently became superintendent of the Erie School at Olive Hill, Ky.

Rockhouse Road Is Let To Codell Co.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 1—A contract for construction on the Elam Store-Wheelersburg road in Morgan and Magoffin counties has been awarded the M. T. Codell Co., Inc. of Winchester, according to an announcement by William P. Curlin, Commissioner of Highways.

The company submitted a low bid of $138,890.66. The contract calls for 4.1 miles of grade, drain and traffic bound limestone beginning at Matthew, approximately 3 1/2 miles southeast of Ky 7 and extending to a point, 1 mile east of Morgan-Magoffin county line.

By SCOTT MEADE

"Happiness is not a point to be reached . . . it is a way of traveling."

No doubt you can recall many instances when you thought to yourself, "Oh, if only I had that new dress I'd be happy, or 'One more promotion or raise and I'll be happy.' The fact that we can remember thinking this very thought on so many occasions should be proof enough that when we get the one thing we so badly wanted we immediately want something else before we can be happy. What a common failing—one of which we are all guilty—pinning our hopes on something as yet unattained, instead of being thrilled with what we have, content to go along looking forward to what we may get in the future.

True, desiring something is an important part of our lives—it is an incentive and something for which to strive. However, why WAIT for happiness—let's be happy TODAY, despite what we may or may not have. If something extra comes along, then let's consider that an extra blessing from heaven.—West Liberty Funeral Home, Phone 143.
